

Abstract by Eamon Wall - Challenges facing the viability Sheep Irelands sheep genetic improvement program in the Irish sheep Industry

Current market conditions in the Irish sheep industry are very encouraging and have instilled a strong sense of positivity across the sector. However, major inefficiencies exist across sheep enterprises and until these are addressed the industry will continue to face many challenges, economically, environmentally, and socially.