

Abstract by Timothy Byrne - Using preference survey approaches to define breeding goals in the New Zealand dairy industry

Breeding goals and objectives play an integral part in guiding the direction of genetic improvement programmes, and require regular review to ensure they align with future market demands and expectations.